Assumed Pensionable Pay for period of absence is £

Section of the Scheme (e.g. Main scheme / 50/50)

Additional Pension Contribution (APC)

Where the unpaid absence is authorised unpaid leave or unpaid additional child related leave, you can repay the period of 'lost' pension in respect of this period of absence by electing to pay additional pension contributions - APC. If the election is made within 30 days of returning to work, your employer will contribute 2/3rds of the cost, but you MUST elect to repay the pension for the entire period of absence within the regulation timeframe.

If the election is made after the 30 days of returning to work, you will have to pay the full cost of repaying the period of absence yourself.

If you wish to proceed you should obtain a quotation from the National APC website found at <http://lgps2014.org/apc/>. The application form from the website together with this statement showing the Assumed Pension Pay lost should be returned to your employer if you wish to proceed.

Where the unpaid absence is in relation to industrial dispute, you can repay the period of 'lost' pension in respect of this period of absence by electing to pay additional pension contributions – APC. However, your employer will not contribute to any of the cost you must pay the full cost of repaying the period of absence yourself.

If you wish to proceed you should obtain a quotation from the National APC website found at <http://lgps2014.org/apc/>. The application form from the website together with this statement showing the Assumed Pension Pay lost should be returned to your employer if you wish to proceed.

MEMBER INFORMATION

(*delete as appropriate)

I wish / do not wish* to pay Additional Pension Contributions (APC's) in respect of my unpaid absence, as indicated above.

Member Declaration

I have been advised that I can make up my 'lost' pension whilst I was on unpaid absence. I am aware that I should obtain a quotation from the National APC website <http://lgps2014.org/apc/>
